

TV captioning has improved, but needs to accelerate in some areas. Late night and live programming are areas that need work. CNN is pathetic about live news coverage with captioning; ditto late night broadcasting. Network captioning is overall more reliable than many cable stations. Accuracy of available captioning needs much work, too.